SCRIBNER'S NEW BOOKS

PUBLISHED TO-DAY

The Chronicles of Aunt Minervy Ann

By JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS. Profusely illustrated by A. B. Frost. 12mo, $1.50.

Mr. Harris has succeeded in creating a second original character as whimsically charming and individual as "Uncle Remus." Aunt Minervy Ann, whose many experiences are delightfully detailed in these pages, is an old-fashioned negro mammy of a sort now fast dying out in the South.

Nooks and Corners of Old New York

By CHARLES HEMSTREET. Illustrated by Ernest C. Peixotto. Square 12mo, $2.00.

The pages of this volume are replete with reminiscence, and reveal the quaint and picturesque town of the past gradually assuming its present metropolitan aspect. It is a pocket history of the city recorded in its monuments—a miniature panorama of the vicissitudes of its various districts and communities.

Dionysius the Weaver's Heart's Dearest

By BLANCHE WILLIS HOWARD (Mme. von Teufel). 12mo, $1.50.

A novel in which the author of "One Summer," "Guenn," "The Open Door," etc., returns to her earliest and most sympathetic manner. The story centres in the daughter of a Swabian peasant family at service in a German noble household, and, beside capital pictures of German life, contains a strong and original motive characteristically handled.

The Messages of the Later Prophets

Vol. II. in THE MESSAGES OF THE BIBLE. Edited by Prof. F. K. Sanders, of Yale, and Prof. C. F. Kent, of Brown University. Square 16mo, $1.25 net.

In this new series emphasis is placed upon the concise, forcible, and realistic interpretation of the Bible. A scholarly yet popular paraphrase of each book is given in plain and expressive English. Of the first volume The Outlook said: "It is a valuable addition to the rapidly augmenting apparatus for Biblical study."

A History of Ancient Philosophy

By Dr. W. WINDELBAND, Professor of Philosophy in the University of Strassburg. Authorized translation from the second German edition by Herbert Ernest Cushman, Ph.D., Instructor in Philosophy in Tufts College. 8vo, $2.00 net.

The most important contribution of the year to English philosophical literature. The work aims to give the student an insight into early Greek and Roman philosophies through the history of affairs. Aside from its historical merit, its accuracy and thorough scholarship, it is a work of great brilliancy and power from a literary point of view.

The Moral Order of the World

In Ancient and Modern Thought. By A. B. BRUCE, D.D., Professor of Free Church College, Glasgow. (The Gifford Lectures for 1898.) Second Series. Crown 8vo, $2.00.

An answer to the historical inquiry: "What have the wisest thought on the great theme of the Moral Order of the Universe in its reality and essential nature?" The recent death of Dr. Bruce adds a pathetic interest to the last work from his pen.

Paul Leicester Ford's

GREAT NOVEL.

And a Few Facts Concerning It.

There will be published in every city of the United States what will doubtless be the book of the season; while many will claim it to be

"The Great American Novel."

ITS TITLE IS

"Janice Meredith,"

AND ITS AUTHOR IS PAUL LEICESTER FORD.

There are TEN important facts concerning this book:

(1.) It is by the author of "The Hon. Peter Stirling," one of the most remarkable books of recent years.

(2.) It is a love story, charmingly and simply treated.

(3.) It is a story containing a mystery.

(4.) It is a novel of the American Revolution, of the history of which period the author has long been an acknowledged master.

(5.) It is an attempt to do in the North what Thackeray did in the South with "The Virginians" during the same period—that is, to depict the actual conditions of social and political life.

(6.) Washington and Hamilton come repeatedly into the story; the character of the hero being founded on that of Hamilton.

(7.) The scene is laid on Manhattan Island, on the Jersey Shore, and in Delaware; it treats of the encampment at Morristown, and of all the stirring events of the war.

(8.) It contains upwards of 500 pages and is well printed, with a frontispiece portrait of Washington in lithograph, and bound in novel style, having an ideal miniature of the heroine in color on the cover.

(9.) Every American, every novel reader, every student of the Revolution, every one that has enjoyed "The Hon. Peter Stirling," and every lover of romantic literature will enjoy it.

(10.) The first edition of 30,000 copies has been exhausted, and a second large edition is in press.

PRICE, $1.50.

MR. KIPLING'S NEW BOOK—NOW READY.

STALKY & CO.

By

RUDYARD KIPLING.

Though the first printing was of 20,000 copies the advance orders necessitated a second printing, of 10,000 copies, a week before the book was published.

With Dedicatory Verses "LET US NOW PRAISE FAMOUS MEN."

MR. KIPLING'S school-boy trio—"Stalky," "Beetle," and "McTurk"—with their downright manliness and their keen strategy, have won a place in his readers' hearts as distinctive as that possessed by the "Soldiers Three" who first made him famous. One of the stories shows the three when as men they have taken up "the White Man's Burden" in India—where the qualities they have developed at school have full play. Size, 5½ x 8¼; Pages, 320. Illustrated by Raven-Hill. Binding, uniform with "The Day's Work." Price, $1.50.

NOTES IN SEASON.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS desire the trade to note that the price of the Contemporary Science Series has been advanced to $1.50 a volume.

D. APPLETON & CO. have just ready "The King's Mirror," a new story by Anthony Hope; "Averages," a novel of modern New York, by Eleanor Stuart, author of "Stonepastures;" also, "The Hero of Manila—Dewey on the Mississippi and the Pacific," by Rossiter Johnson, which appears in the Young Heroes of Our Navy series.

CHARLES H. SERGEL COMPANY call attention to the following of their new books: "The Island, or, an adventure of a person of quality," a reprint of one of the earlier books of Richard Whiteing's; "The South African Question," a plea for the Boer, by Olive Schreiner, author of "The Story of an African Farm;" "Suspense," by Henry Seton Merriman; and a new volume in the Modern Plays Series—"The Father," by August Strindberg, translated from the Swedish by N. Erichsen. Hereafter this house will pay transportation on all orders for their publications from the trade.

DOUBLEDAY & MCCLURE CO. have ready this week a batch of books, including "Sketches in Egypt," text and pictures by Charles Dana Gibson; "Stalky & Co.," by Rudyard Kipling, with illustrations by L. Raven Hill; "Tales of the Telegraph," by Jasper Ewing Brady; "Stories of the Railroad," by John Alexander Hill; "Arms and the Woman," a novel by Harold MacGrath; "The Boy's Book of Inventions," by Ray Stannard Baker; and "The Jamesons," a delightful sketch of New England characters, by Mary E. Wilkins. All of these books have already been described more or less fully in our Fall Announcement number.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have ready a new edition of "Tales of Languedoc," by Samuel Jacques Brun, illustrated by Ernest Peixotto, who has caught the spirit of these fairy and folk tales; "A History of England for High Schools and Academies," by Professors Katharine Cowan and Elizabeth K. Kendall, who specially bring out the physical environment of the English isles and its influence upon the growth and industrial prosperity of the English nation; and "Greek Terracotta Statuettes," by C. A. Hutton, with a preface by A. G. Murray, keeper of the department of Greek and Roman antiquities in the British Museum, and eight reproductions in color of typical figures and thirty-five smaller illustrations in monochrome.

THE LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY have just published two of their more important holiday books; the one being "Captain Kodak, a Camera Story," by Alexander Black, which is a story of "the camera hobby, of an amateur photographer and his chums, of a boy's adventures in the company of his camera, of a camera club and the old and young brought together by the influence of a common interest," in one word, a fascinating book, handsomely gotten up and lavishly illustrated. The other is "The True Story of Lafayette, called the Friend of America," told for young people by Elbridge S. Brooks, whose stories of Columbus, Washington, Lincoln, Grant, and Franklin, rank as standard literature for the young. The volume is fully illustrated by Victor A. Searles and others.

DODD, MEAD & CO. have just ready Paul Leicester Ford's story of the American Revolution, entitled "Janice Meredith." Readers of "The Honorable Peter Stirling" know that the author, who has made a profound study of the period of the Revolution, also writes a good love-story and is skilful in keeping up interest in a mystery. The western shore of Manhattan Island and Delaware afford the scenic background, and Washington and Hamilton are the leading characters. The first printing of this story, covering 30,000 copies, is exhausted, and every city in the United States will put copies of the book on sale the same day, and no doubt there will be booksellers waiting for the second large edition now on the press before it can be made ready. Historical novels lead in fiction, and the editor of the writings of Washington and Hamilton is sure of his facts, while the author of "The Honorable Peter Stirling" and "Love Finds a Way" knows how to make facts romantic.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illus rated, etc. is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S. Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Alger, Horatio, jr. Rupert's ambition. Phil., H: T. Coates & Co., 1899. c. 4+366 p. il. D. cl., $1.25. [3043

A boy of sixteen, named Rupert Rollins, loses his position in a dry goods house in New York city through dull times, and is thrown on his own resources. He has been the main support of his mother and sister, and is very despondent for a time. But friends are raised up for him in most unexpected ways, and he gets a place as bell-boy in a hotel, then becomes a rich man's confidential clerk. His cheerfulness, honesty, and good deeds finally bring him all his ambition had craved.

Allen, Grant. A splendid sin. N. Y., F. M. Buckles & Co., 1899. c. 3–273 p. D. cl., $1. [3044

The story at first has its scene in Switzerland at the "Black Eagle," an old-fashioned hotel; it shifts afterwards to Devonshire, England. A young Englishman, Hubert Egremont, who has made a special study of physiology, wants to marry the daughter of an Italian, the Marchese Tornabuoni. The lovers and the parents on both sides meet in Switzerland to settle the business side of the marriage. Unexpectedly a question of heredity comes up which threatens to separate the young people. A confession Hubert's mother makes ends the complication. Grant Allen treats her "splendid sin" in an unconventional and wholly scientific manner.

Besant, Sir Walter. The orange girl; il. by Warren B. Davis. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1899. c. 4+347 p. D. cl., $1.50. [3055

A tale of the closing days of the last century when suspected citizens and debtors were treated as criminals and when capital punishment was the verdict for even trifling disregard of law and order. "The orange girl" was a supposed gipsy girl who began life among the criminal classes, sold fruit around Drury Lane theatre, loved a nobleman and married a banker who turned out a gambler. She had noble impulses and became the guardian angel of some of the tortured debtors in the overcrowded prison. Describes accurately the London of one hundred years ago.

Bible. Cambridge Bible for schools and colleges; ed. by A. F. Kirkpatrick, D.D. The First and Second Books of the Kings; with introd. and notes by J. Rawson Lumby, D.D. 2 v. in 1 v. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1899. 16°, (Cambridge University Press ser.) cl., net, $1.50. [3056

With the two essays "Faith-healing" and "Christian science and mind-cure" there is a supplementary paper which deals with recent failures of Christian science and faith-healing, the contrast between the failures and successes of faith-healing and Christian science and those of physicians, important facts concerning all sickness and the relation of the practice of Christian science and faith-healing to civil law. This latter paper was prepared especially for this book

Bullock, Shan F. The Barrys. N. Y., Doubleday & McClure Co., 1899. 4+422 p. D. cl., $1.25. [3068

An Irish story full of description of beautiful scenery and of sketches of fine characters. The Barrys have many family misunderstandings, lose property, and one driven by despair over a dissipated wife takes to drink and breaks many hearts. The end is happy. The heroine, "Nan," is a healthy, hopeful, unselfish, lovable Irish beauty.

Burnside, W: Snow, and Panton, Arthur W: The theory of equations; with an introd. to the theory of binary algebraic forms. 4th ed. V. 1. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1899. 14+286 p. O. cl., net, $2.75. [3069

In preparing the present edition, the authors have thought it advisible to divide the work into two volumes. This, the first volume, contains all that is usually given in elementary works on the theory of equations, together with a short chapter on complex numbers and the complex variable.

Caine, O. V. In the year of Waterloo. Bost., A. I. Bradley & Co., [1899.] 5+365 p. D. cl., $1.50. [3070

The time of the story is 1815. The notable characters who figured in Napoleon's defeat at Waterloo are introduced; also Talleyrand, and other famous Frenchmen and Englishmen. The incidents which foreshadow the downfall of Napoleon and his exile take up most of the space, although a romantic love-story ends the stirring tale.

Callahan, Ja. Morton. Cuba and international relations: a historical study in American diplomacy. Balt., Md., The Johns Hopkins Press, 1899. c. 5–503 p. O. cl., $3. [3071

Beginning with Cuba's position as a centre of Spanish colonial influence in America, the author traces the causes and effects of European wars and colonial policies before 1783; the Spanish policy in the American Revolution; the western demand for an open door to the Gulf; injuries to American commerce in Cuban waters; the acquisition of Louisiana and Florida by the United States; the influence of the Spanish-American revolt; the origin of the Monroe Doctrine; Anglo-American jealousies, etc., etc.; the unsuccessful attempts of the filibusters; the negotiations of Polk, Pierce, and Buchanan for purchase; the relations of the United States and the Southern Confederacy to Spain and Cuba during the Civil War; the causes of the Cuban insurrections which began in 1868; American patience, forbearance, and proffered mediation to end bloodshed and long-suffered inconveniences; the steps looking toward interference in 1875-6; and the events leading up to the recent intervention, etc., etc.

Carlyle, T: On heroes and hero worship, and the heroic in history. N. Y., Cassell & Co., Ltd., [1899.] 3–192 p. T. (Cassell's national lib., new ser., v. 8, no. 324.) pap., 10 c. [3072

Caverno, C:, D.D. The ten words: a study of the commandments. Bost., The Pilgrim Press, [1899.] c. 2–231 p. D. cl., $1. [3073

The author believes that the commandments now stand as expressions of duties broader and deeper and more complex than could be dreamed of in the age of Moses. Some of these duties he points out in an interesting, readable, and suggestive style.

Chase, C: H. Elementary principles of economics: being an exposition of the fundamental principles of the science of political economy. Chic., C: H. Kerr & Co., 1899. c. 16+405 p. D. cl., $1.25. [3074

The plan of the work in the main is to quote facts rather than present arguments, and to establish these facts by the best of references. In the first chapter some general principles are applied to the claims of materialism. The second and third chapters give a general outline of the development and functioning of the brain. Chapter four presents data having reference to the theory that some part of the brain is the seat of the mind, or is most subservient to thought activity. Finally the normal mind is considered. Contains a glossary addressed both to physicians and laymen.

Clayton, Victoria V. White and black under the old régime; with introd. by F: Cook Morehouse. Milwaukee, Wis., The Young Churchman Co., [1899.] c. 195 p. por. S. cl., net, $1. [3077

Largely a biography, but written chiefly "to give northern readers a more just conception of what the system of southern slavery actually was as it existed in many, if not in most, instances." Mrs. Clayton pictures many bright and happy scenes of plantation life "before the war," and shows the slave was not always unhappy or badly treated. Mrs. Clayton is the widow of the late H: D. Clayton, Major-General C. S. A., Judge of the Circuit Court of Alabama, and President of the University of Alabama.

An American girl, refined, beautiful, and well educated, but of independent spirit, is the heroine. The scene is Switzerland and England, though the principal characters are American. An entertaining picture is given of hotel life in Switzerland and of the various odd characters to be found there. Chiefly, however, the author aims to portray the peculiarities and characteristics of American travellers abroad. Portions of the story appeared in The woman at home under the title of "The woman of fortune."

Crockett, S: Rutherford. Kit Kennedy, country boy; with il. by A. I. Keller. N. Y., Harper, 1899. c. 5+408 p. D. cl., $1.50. [3081

A secret Scotch marriage without a minister, lost marriage lines and the disappearance of witnesses, a deserted wife who cannot prove her marriage, and a boy with seemingly no legal right to the name he bears, is the familiar plot. "Kit Kennedy" is the boy in question, and it is his story that the book has to do with. Many vivid descriptions are introduced of Scotch scenery and intense scenes of love and hatred.

Daniels, Heber K. Digby Ravelyn: a novel. N. Y., The Home Pub. Co., [1899.] c. 2+242 p. D. (Welcome ser., no. 49.) pap., 50 c. [3082

The young heir of Ravelyn falls in love with a carpenter's daughter who is in turn loved by the dissipated son of the village undertaker. This undertaker is the carpenter's landlord and makes him suffer many indignities when times are hard and rent comes slowly. The undertaker's family, consisting of two sons and two daughters named after marbles used in building monuments, is described with humor that reminds the reader of Dickens.

Daly, J: J. Window dressing. N. Y., The Bookseller and Newsman, 1899. c. 5–66 p. O. pap., $1. [3083

D'Argenteuil, Paul. The trembling of Borealis. N. Y. and Chic., F. Tennyson Neely, [1899.] c. 5–316 p. il. D. cl., $1; pap., 25 c. [3084

The story is supposed to begin Anno Mundi, 5000. Anno Mundi meaning year of the world, is used instead of Anno Domini (year of our Lord). The events related are believed to have happened during the dark ages of a previous period among prehistoric races of the North American Continent then known as Borealis. Among other incidents that disturb the inhabitants of the United Provinces of Borealis is a war in which there are climaxes and political situations resembling our recent Spanish-American trouble.

That Shakespeare was not necessarily a lawyer because he used legal terminology is Mr. Devecmon's first proposition; he is of opinion that Shakespeare imbibed his knowledge of law from his surroundings, the age being a legal one, and also inherited his interest in law courts and phraseology from his father, who was continually during his life involved in lawsuits; he does not believe Shakespeare studied law, but was perhaps a clerk in an attorney's office for a short period. He points out Shakespeare's many errors in legal terminology, and examines several of the works claiming for him great legal knowledge.

Of each of the reformer's greatest works enough is given to outline the whole. At the same time the text has been left in a condition to be sound material for practice studies of Luther's style, vocabulary, syntax, accidence, and phonology."—Preface.

Lynch, Hannah. Autobiography of a child. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1899. c. '98. 4+270 p. D. cl., $1.25. [3133

The mother of the child who describes twelve years of her unhappy little life was a very handsome woman, married to her second husband who had absolutely no love for her children and delighted to make them suffer physical and mental tortures. The child was sent to a warm-hearted Irish nurse, afterwards to a Catholic convent in England. Brief intervals of home visits seem to contain more heart-break than would seem possible to fall to a baby girl.

Mathews, Frances Aymar. A married man: a novel. N. Y. and Chic., Rand, McNally & Co., 1899. c. 3+331 p. D. cl., $1.25. [3139

It trenches on the improbable that a United States Senator from New York State, aged forty, should engage himself to marry a fascinating widow he meets on shipboard and has only seen once before on her wedding day. As a foil to this widow there is a pure girl who is already laid on the ice in seeming death when rescued by the same senator, now a widower. The book is an attempt at a problem novel. The scene is chiefly Paris.

A little English town is the scene of the oft-told tale of woman's constancy and man's infatuation for whatever is new and near. A run on a country bank, a young girl's misfortunes, an innocent man's murder and suspicion following the wrong clues until it settles finally in most unexpected quarter, are a few of the incidents the author of "The Jessamy bride" weaves into a romance showing once more his keen knowledge of human nature.

Munger, Theodore Thornton. Horace Bushnell, preacher and theologian. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1899. c. 7+525 p. por. D. cl., $2. [3150

"This book owes its existence to the fact that no full and connected account of Dr. Bushnell's work as a theologian has yet been made. He has been abundantly reviewed and criticised, but that full picture of him as dealing with the theological questions of the day, which his greatness and his influence deserve, has not been drawn."—Preface. Horace Bushnell was a distinguished Congregational clergyman of Conn., b. 1802, d. 1876; author of "God in Christ," "Christ in theology," etc. Chronology. List of published writings (3 p.).

Munroe, Kirk. Forward, march: a tale of the Spanish-American war. N. Y., Harper, 1899. c. 7+254 p. D. cl., $1.25. [3151

The story of Ridge Norris, a well-educated young man of New Orleans, who enlists in Colonel Roosevelt's regiment of "Rough Riders." He speaks French and Spanish fluently, hence receives a most important mission to land in Cuba and carry special messages to General Garcia. He has thrilling adventures in Cuba.

Neufeld, C: A prisoner of the Khaleefa: twelve years' captivity at Omdurman. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1899. 14+365 p. pors. plans, O. cl., $4. [3152

The author was captured by the dervishes in 1887 while accompanying a caravan to Kordofan for supposed business purposes. He was also believed to have carried letters from the English government, and arms, ammunition, and monies to the loyal Sheikh of the Kabbabish, Seleh Bey Wad Salem. His caravan was betrayed and he was held a prisoner in the Soudan for twelve years. Mr. Neufeld has been the subject of much slander and misrepresentation, even having been accused of betraying the caravan he accompanied. His book is a detailed account of the horrors of his captivity and an answer to the accusations of his enemies.

The larger part of the selections of this volume are taken from one of Christina Rossetti's prose works, "The face of the deep," a running commentary on the book of Revelation. Through "The face of the deep" are scattered some of the loveliest lyrics and sonnets that Miss Rossetti ever wrote, and these are largely quoted, adding to the charm of the little volume. Extracts are also given from a smaller work of Christina Rossetti's, entitled "Time flies," and from her first volume of poems.

Rostand, Edmond. La Princesse Lointaine, (The Princess Far-away;) a play in four acts, in verse; tr. into English verse, with a preface. by C: Renauld. N. Y., F: A. Stokes Co., [1899.] c. 5+110 p. por. D. cl., 50 c. [3166

A picturesque poetical play of the twelfth century. The leading character, the Princess Far-away (La Princesse Lointaine), was played by Madame Sarah Bernhardt when the drama was first produced in Paris in 1895.

A burlesque of romance; two young people are driven into each other's arms through the cunningly planned opposition of their willing parents. Their romance is helped to a conclusion by other and equally clever tactics. The writer says "The scene is laid where you will, provided the costumes be pretty." By the author of "Cyrano de Bergerac."

Saintsbury, G: E: Bateman. Matthew Arnold. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1899. c. 3+232 p. D. cl., $1.25. [3168

Briefly reviews the events in the life of Matthew Arnold, taking the facts from the "Life and letters" edited by G. W. E. Russell. The book is chiefly a critical study of Arnold. The author says "there have certainly been greater poets in English: I think there have been greater critics. But as poet and critic combined, no one but Dryden and Coleridge can for a moment be placed beside him."

Sayce, Rev. Archibald H. Babylonians and Assyrians: life and customs. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1899. c. 8+266 p. D. (Semitic ser., no. 6, ed. by Ja. Alex. Craig.) cl., $1.25. [3169

A new series of handbooks whose object is to present, in brief and compact form, a knowledge of the more important facts of the Semitic family in a way that will be serviceable to students in colleges, universities, and theological seminaries, to the clergy, and to intelligent lay readers. Each volume of the series is complete in itself, and each contributor is a specialist on the subject assigned him, and has been chosen from the body of eminent Semitic scholars both in Europe and in this country. The present volume, although the first issued, is the sixth in the series. It has special reference to the contract tablets and letters.

Scott, Eva. Rupert, Prince Palatine; il. from contemporary portraits and engravings. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1899. 8+381 p. O. cl., $3. [3171

"It is curious that in these days of historical research so little has been written about Rupert of the Rhine, a man whose personality was striking, whose career was full of exciting adventure, and for whose biography an immense amount of material is available. . . . The present work is an attempt to sketch the character and career of this remarkable man; the history of the [English] Civil War, except so far as it concerns the Prince, forming no part of its scope. . . . From Rupert's adventures and correspondence we learn much concerning the life of the exiled Stuarts during the years of the Commonwealth; while his post-Restoration history is closely connected with the naval affairs of England."—Preface.

Scott, Sir Walter. Complete poetical works; rev., corr., and ed., with notes and commentaries, by W: J. Rolfe. Illustrated octavo ed. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1899. il. 8°, $3.50. [3172

Sheldon, Rev. C: M. John King's question class. Chic., Advance Publishing Co., [1899.] c. 4+283 p. D. cl., 75 c.; pap., 25 c. [3179

John King was a clergyman. His "question class" gathered in mostly the young people of his congregation on Sunday evenings. They offered him no end of questions for solution—on morals, amusements, business conditions, etc., etc.—many being suggested by "In his steps." Incidentally there is a story. Like Rev. M. Sheldon's other stories this was first read to his own Sunday evening congregation in the Central Church, Topeka, Kansas.

Sherwood, Marg., ["Elizabeth Hastings," pseud.] Henry Worthington, idealist. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1899. c. 2+283 p. D. cl., $1.50. [3180

The author of "An experiment in altruism" introduces another idealist, a professor of sociology in an American college, aged twenty-six. A gift of money to the college, money ground out of the victims of department store methods, he thinks should be refused. The daughter of the donor of this money is the heroine. The book is a study of business conditions, showing how inextricably interwoven are right and wrong, selfishness and unselfishness. Individual responsibility and individual tolerance are inculcated.

Shoemaker, Michael Meyers. Quaint corners of ancient empires: southern India, Burma, and Manila. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1899. c. 19+212 p. il. O. cl., $2.25. [3181

By the author of "Islands of the southern seas." He tells the story of the friars of the Philippines as he learned it from the highest English and American authorities in Manila, and it is not pleasant reading. Before the chapters on Manila he takes the reader through southern India, from Ceylon to the grandest and least known of all Hindoo temples—"Rameswaram" on Adam's Bridge. Thence to fantastic Madura and stately Tanjore; thence via Madras and the Bay of Bengal to Rangoon; then a thousand miles up the Irrawaddy, almost reaching China, and returning pausing at Mandalay, which romantic city comes in for a very thorough description of its palaces, monasteries, pagodas, etc.

Smith, Nora Archibald. Under the cactus flag: a story of life in Mexico. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1899. c. 4+281 p. il. D. cl., $1.25. [3184

Little Mary Annesley is only sixteen when her uncle Bertram dies, leaving her and her cousin and aunt penniless. They had been living in California when the story opens, and the girls resolve to earn money in some way. One day Mary receives a letter from her old Spanish teacher offering her a position in a private school in Mexico. The incidents, Mary's journey there, and her experience as a teacher, are based upon Miss Smith's own experience. Several Mexican folk-songs are woven into the tale.

Smith, Orlando J. A short view of great questions. N. Y., The Brandur Co., [1899.] c. 2+75 p. S. cl., 50 c.; pap., 25 c. [3185

The keynote of this volume is that "the whole theory of creation—the creation of the universe, of the race of men, of the soul of man—is at variance with the trend, deductions, and demonstrations of modern science." The author offers the theory of reincarnation, or the transmigration of souls, as the highest possible incentive to right living.

Smith, Walter. Methods of knowledge: an essay in epistemology. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1899. 22+340 p. 12°, cl., net, $1.25. [3186

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

OCTOBER 7, 1899.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of "The American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

NEW BOOK DESCRIPTIONS.

THERE has been more or less dissatisfaction among bibliographers, the book trade, and librarians with the symbols that describe the size and general dimensions of a book, since the introduction of paper-making machinery, which turns out sheets of paper of any desired size, robbed these designations of their precise meanings. In the old days of the mould—indeed, almost from the beginning of the manufacture of linen paper—sheets of paper were of a fixed size. Then, as need hardly be explained here, a sheet once folded was a folio; when folded twice it became a quarto, and so on. Even later, when the sizes of paper multiplied, it was still possible to form an approximate estimate of the size of a book when the old terminology, with certain modifications, was retained by the printer. For instance, a royal octavo (or roy. 8°,) denoted a book printed on paper known as royal, a sheet of which at one time measured 19 x 24 inches; the sheet folded three times by the binder had eight leaves, or sixteen pages, and the folded book measured 6 x 9½ inches. Now a royal octavo volume varies in size from 6 x 9 to 6½ x 10 inches. In fact, so considerable is the variation between English and American machine-made paper, that it may be taken as a rule that the symbols 16°, 12°, 8°, etc., in an American catalogue vary from one to two inches in height from the books designated by the same symbols in an English catalogue.

As a way out of this antiquated and misleading terminology the American Library Association, in 1878, adopted a system based merely on the metric measurement of the height of a book, and employed the size symbols given in our "Weekly Record of New Books," viz., Fe for 48°, Tt for 32°, Tf for 24°, S for 16°, etc. The minimum measurement for a 48° is ten centimeters, or about four inches, and the maximum for a folio is forty centimeters, or fifteen and three-quarter inches.

Unfortunately the American book trade has not accepted this system and still uses the old nomenclature and abbreviations, nearly every one following some special system of his own for denoting the sizes of his books. Even if the fold were a guide to determining the technical size of a book, which it no longer is, it would be difficult to follow that clue, because almost every modern printer uses a different system of signatures, or omits them altogether. Two bibliographers, equally well versed, in describing the size of the same book may arrive at entirely different results.

It is gratifying, in view of these difficulties in determining the exact size of a book without having the book before one, that a number of American and English publishers are beginning to realize the importance of the matter and are giving the sizes of their books in inches, measuring not only the height but also the width of the cover. Within a year or two a few publishers have not only given the sizes of their books in this manner, but have also given the size of the type from which the books were printed, thus: Size, 6 x 9¼; pages, 354; binding, cloth; type, 11-point; illustrations, 16 insets from photographs and drawings, and 5 maps, two of them in a large folder. Recently an English firm has gone still a step further, and to the technical descriptions enumerated above has added the weight of the book in ounces. Certainly exact bibliographical description could go no further, and it is to be hoped that the examples quoted may find speedy imitation from all who make books.

FRENCH BOOKSELLERS SETTLE THE DISCOUNT QUESTION.

IN France, also, booksellers have been concerning themselves with the discount question. Failing to get cheaper terms from the publishers, with whom they are nevertheless in agreement as to the action to be taken, the Booksellers' Union of France have determined to raise prices to the buyer. There seems some prospect of the change being a success, as the Union has a membership of 1500, and outsiders will not find it easy to get supplies from publishers except under the new conditions. At the old prices there was apparently a very narrow margin of profit. The new scheme went into operation on the 1st inst.

THE DISCOUNT QUESTION.

FUNK & WAGNALLS'S PLAN TO PREVENT THE CUTTING OF PRICES.

THE following circular was issued by Funk & Wagnalls Company September 15:

We invite the bookselling trade to consider carefully the new plan which we have adopted for the sale of our publications.

You will observe that by signing and returning to us the enclosed "Dealers' Acceptance Blank" you do not bind yourself to purchase any of our publications; you bind yourself only in case you do purchase that you will not cut prices, the penalty for cutting to be the forfeit of the rebate discount and the forfeit of the privilege to purchase more of our publications.

The cutting of prices by dealers, in sharp competition, often wipes out altogether the margin of profits, and has driven out of business not a few of the regular bookselling stores in various parts of the country, to the injury of the bookbuyers themselves. Live and let live is the golden rule applied to business, and intelligently understood and applied it "matches all around."

THE PLAN:

(1) We to sell to no jobber or dealer who does not sign the "no-cut-rate" Acceptance Blank.

(2) Jobbers to supply dealers on the same terms as we do ourselves. We shall forward the rebate discounts to dealers through the jobbers from whom they secure their books; dealers who purchase directly from us will receive their rebate discounts directly from us.

(3) The discount to dealers to be uniform 20 per cent., regardless of quantity or distance, and regardless of whether the books are bought directly from us or through a jobber. A rebate of 15 per cent. additional will be allowed at the expiration of each quarter on all sales of our books by any dealer from September 15, 1899, provided he has not, directly or indirectly, cut prices. This rebate will be allowed quarterly on December 15 and every three months thereafter. Rebate to be allowed only after receipt of signed statement which declares the number of books sold, from whom purchased, and that the rates have not been cut. No jobber or dealer to be listed as "no-cut-rate" who does not sign the Acceptance Blank. A sufficient proof that he has not cut prices (in the absence of conclusive, direct proof to the contrary) will be his own statement that he has maintained the prices. This plan will guarantee the dealer a clear 20 per cent. and 15 per cent. profit on all sales, instead of as now, under the sharp competition, a margin of possibly 10 per cent., and often less. As is well known, in many cases, popular books are frequently sold by dealers at cost, and even at less than cost, as "bait" or to draw custom.

(4) On proof that a dealer has cut prices, his name will be posted to all jobbers handling our books, and we shall instruct them not to sell him any more books at any price, nor will any more be sold him by ourselves, either directly or indirectly.

(5) To make a demand for our books, (1) we shall largely increase our issue of popular books by the best writers, (2) we shall advertise largely, both in the press and through circulars, (3) to each dealer consenting to sell our books on this plan (a) we shall send, as soon as issued, one copy of each new book which we think he will be able to sell in his neighborhood, which copy he shall have the privilege of returning if unsold at the expiration of ninety days; (b) if he orders at one time ten copies of any one book we shall send one copy free, to be sent by him, in his own name, for press notice in any paper in his neighborhood; if he orders at one time twenty copies of one book we shall allow him two copies for press notice, so for each additional ten copies up to the number of papers in his neighborhood; (c) we shall send circulars descriptive of our books, with a blank space for his name to be stamped, written, or printed in, these circulars to be distributed among his customers.

While we shall retain the privilege to fill any direct orders from bookbuyers over our counters, or orders received by mail, we shall sell at the same price exactly as do the local or retail booksellers. This plan will practically turn over to them the entire post-office trade in any locality, for they will be on the ground and can show the books. In this way they will have a great advantage over us in reaching buyers.

So we practically put within their easy reach our entire mail business, which amounts to many hundreds of thousands of dollars each year. This proposition, including the "Advance Club Offers" and the "Instalment Sales" mentioned below, does not include subscription books, nor school books, nor the Standard Dictionary and its abridgments.

At times it is of advantage to make what we call "Advance Club Offers" to large clubs, at a low price, on some particular book. All booksellers know that a large edition of a book can be printed at a much lower price than a small edition. Hence, it has been our custom to offer to the book-reading public, from time to time, the privilege of joining a club of 3000 to 20,000 for a book that we are about to print, either new or in a new edition, all joining the club to have an advantage in the money saved in the publishing and handling of a very large edition. This is highly appreciated by purchasers. We purpose to continue this co-operative method of selling books, but we intend to permit every seller or dealer accepting this "no-cut-rate" plan the privilege of taking orders for any such club that we may endeavor to form, allowing him 10 per cent. in such cases.

Another popular method of selling large and expensive works is on the instalment plan. We will permit the local trade that accepts this "no-cut-rate" plan to take orders for us for books on any instalment offer which we may make from time to time, we assuming all the risks involved. On these sales we will give 10 per cent. as soon as half of the amount has been received by us. These two methods, "Advance Club Offers" and "Instalment Sales," are exceedingly popular, and immense quantities of books are being sold by them.

From time to time we offer one of our periodicals—The Literary Digest, The Homiletic Review, or The Missionary Review—with some particular book, at a special combination price. Local dealers will have the privilege of taking orders on these combination offers, and will receive 10 per cent. on all such orders.

You will observe by the above comprehensive plan that you are enabled to sell books at exactly the same prices at which we sell them, and in every case you have the advantage, for you are on the ground and know the customer, and also can show copies of the books. You are well protected by this plan, because the cutting of prices will be avoided, and you can make a sure, reasonable profit.

W. B. HARISON'S PLAN TO PROTECT THE BOOKSELLER.

YOU are hereby notified that on and after this date my publications will be sold at catalogue price, except to booksellers who sign and maintain the contract attached hereto.

This step is taken in the interest of the booksellers that the sale of these books may be of profit to them. Booksellers will be entitled to special discount on introduction orders, and will therefore be able to make the same terms to schools as are made from this office. When an introduction is made through a bookseller's effort, and orders are filled by the New York or branch offices, that dealer will be credited the regular commission, or discount, direct.

Any of my publications which prove unsalable will be credited against other purchases, at price charged, if they are returned in good order within six months after date of original purchase. (These terms apply only to dealers signing this contract.)

It is my purpose to refer to the local booksellers who carry a line of my publications, all inquiries for my books, and to make the line as interesting and profitable to them as possible.

THE BOOKSELLER'S POSITION DEFINED.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20, 1899.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: I have read with interest the communications provoked by your editorial in the issue of August 5 on the Spalding method of maintaining list prices on their goods. The application of this method to the book business is most clearly and ably set forth by A. M. Robertson in his letter published in your issue of August 26. The book trade is indebted to Mr. Robertson for stirring up a discussion on this important question, which cannot but result in a betterment of the bad conditions which now prevail.

Mr. Robertson, who evidently thoroughly understands the financial end of his business, as well as what might be termed the sentimental part of it, lays stress upon the point that books should be sold at list price. This contention for list prices seems to be as the flaunting of a red rag, for in your issues of September 9 and September 16 we have decided protests to this proposition.

Mr. Gregory in the issue for September 9 contends that the bookseller must not expect to make the war-time profits of 35% and 40%, but should be well content to sell books at 25% discount, and by so doing make a fair profit on the "David Harums" and "Richard Carvels." In connection with this statement from a bookseller, it seems pertinent to quote the words of a publisher in the communication from the Dodge Publishing Company in the same issue: "It does not take a great deal of figuring to note that if a book is billed at 40% and sold at 20%, and it costs 25% to do business, the store or department doing such a business will some day cause the publisher a loss or discontinue the business."

It would seem from these two statements that the publisher could instruct the retailer as to his finances. But actual facts are better than mere statements. In my limited experience the facts that the figures tell are as follows:

The average bookseller receives an average discount of 40%, and under existing conditions allows the purchaser 20% or 20 and 2% or 25%. Taking $1 as a unit of price the cost to the bookseller would be 60c., the selling price 80 or 78 or 75c., according to the discount he was in the habit of allowing. The testimony of booksellers the country over, as to expenses in conducting a retail store, gives us the information that you must count on 20% to 25% of the amount of busines transacted.

First, let us deduct 20%, or the lowest rate of expense, from the different amounts received for a $1 book.

Supposing the expense 20%.

Book sold at	Expense.	Net balance.	Net cost.
80 cents	Less 20%	64 cents	60 cents
78 cents	Less 20%	62½ cents	60 cents
75 cents	Less 20%	60 cents	60 cents

Supposing the expense 25%.

Book sold at	Expense.	Net balance.	Net cost.
80 cents	Less 25%	60 cents	60 cents
78 cents	Less 25%	58½ cents	60 cents
75 cents	Less 25%	56¼ cents	60 cents

The conclusions arrived at from the above figures are these: If the bookseller is careful enough (and it will require the most rigid economy) to keep his expenses down to 20%, and if he allows his customers only 20%, he will make a net profit of 4% on the dollar, which I am safe in saying is not an exorbitant return on his investment. Even Colonel William Jennings Bryan would not accuse him of robbing the people. It might be pertinent to inquire at this point why the bookseller is willing to endure the taxing labors which his business entails, when he might loan his money in a safe way and receive the same returns, or even larger, minus all the care?

Following out our deductions, a dollar book at 78 cents would net 2½c., and at 75 cents or 25% discount (which per cent. Mr. H. Gregory in your issue of September 9, and "The Travelling Man" in the September 16 issue, are willing to allow, and, in fact, contend that the public should have) would just pay expenses, with no return for all the labor expended. In other words, bookselling under these conditions would be a labor of love.

But what if the expenses run over 20%, which I believe in most cases they do? In case of 25% expense we have, at 80 cents for a dollar book, no loss, no gain; at 78 cents a loss of 1½c.; at 75 cents a loss of 3¾ cents. In the face of these facts I cannot understand how any bookseller can make the statement that it is unfair to the public to sell at list prices. The proper statement of the case would be that it is unfair to the bookseller not to sell at list price. In my opinion the evil condition of the book business is due not so much to the department stores as it is to the booksellers who hold such views as Mr. Gregory and "The Travelling Man," as well as Mr. Frederik A. Fernald, who suggests in your issue of September 16 that the publishers should allow the bookseller only 20% if the books are to be sold at list prices.

To refer again to Mr. Robertson's letter in this connection. He calls attention to the disparity between the worldly possession of the average bookseller and the butcher, baker, and the candlestick-maker, and, let us include, for sake of argument, the dry-goods merchant also. Are these merchants content with 4% return on their money, and would they be content with 20% discount on goods to be sold at list prices? I venture to say that they all would laugh at such a proposition.

In the preceding table of figures in connection with the item of per cent. of expense, no account has been taken of depreciation of stock, or loss from what is called "plug stock." This loss, as every bookseller knows, is considerable. Just how much, it is difficult to determine. Talking with a conservative bookman not long ago, who stated that he kept his expenses down to 20%, I learned that he reckoned the loss from dead stock at 5% of the stock. Supposing this per cent. to be correct, and it is certainly low enough to apply to stock purchased by the most careful buyer, and supposing the stock to be one-third of the sales, we would have from this source, say, 1⅓% to add to the usual expenses. Furthermore, we have taken no account of the loss from bad accounts, which I should say varied from 5% to 10% of the ledger balance. Granting this is one-half of 1% of the sales, and adding this ½% to the 1⅓% dead-stock loss, we have 2% to be added to the 20% or 25% expenses, and the result is as follows:

Supposing the expense 20%.

Book sold at	Expense.	Loss on stock and bad acc'ts.	Net bal.	Net cost.
80 cts. less ..	20% plus	2%	62.40 ..	60
78 cts. less ..	20% plus	2%	60.84 ..	60.50
75 cts. less ..	20% plus	2%	58.50 ..	60

Supposing the expense 25%.

Book sold at	Expense.	Loss on stock and bad acc'ts.	Net bal.	Net cost.
80 cts. less ..	25% plus	2%	58.40	60
78 cts. less ..	25% plus	2%	56.94 ..	60
75 cts. less ..	25% plus	2%	54.75 ..	60

In only the first two instances is any profit shown, and then it is so small that it is hardly worthy of notice.

It is fortunate that booksellers, as a rule, do not depend upon profits made upon current and standard copyright books purchased at 40%. The sale of such books does, however, make up a large part of his business, requiring more thought than other lines as well as the carrying of a larger and a more uncertain stock, and yet there is no return for the outlay. I say with your other correspondents, the publishers can remedy this if they will. The business atmosphere just now is charged with the idea of combination. Why should not the book publishers and the booksellers combine for mutual benefit, as well as other lines of business? Such combination would not be in the nature of a monopoly to rob people, but would be one of those good and beneficial combinations which Mr. Bourke Cockran admitted existed in his address at the recent Conference on Trusts in this city. The mooted question seems to be —how much ought the bookseller to make? What is fair profit, and what is robbery of the people? Is 40% too much for the bookseller to ask from the publisher when his expenses in toto are from 25% to 27%? Would 33⅓% be enough to supply him with requisite means to hold up his head with his commercial brethren of the tape measure and the chopping block? Would it not be possible to hold a conference on the subject, composed of delegates from both booksellers and publishers?

TEXAS WANTS PROTECTION.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., Sept. 21, 1899.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: After reading A. M. Robertson's letter on "The Cut-Price Evil" in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY of August 26, and that of Frederik A. Fernald on "The Discount Question" in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY of September 16, I cannot help expressing what, in my opinion, would be the result of such steps on the retail booksellers throughout the United States. There could be but one result, and that is, Success!! With such a plan or plans in force, the booksellers all over the United States would be on an equal footing. As it is to-day, the booksellers in the smaller cities not only have to compete with the other booksellers in their own city, but have to compete with the department stores of New York, Chicago, St. Louis, and the other large cities. It is not a rare thing that people come to our store to buy a book and, after pricing it (at list price), turn away and say that they can get the same book from Montgomery Ward & Co., or some other department store, for twenty or twenty-five per cent. less than the price we ask. In consequence, we lose a sale that rightly belongs to us.

I think about the most satisfactory plan that could be suggested is the one that is at present being used by the Funk & Wagnalls Company. The plan is one that will no doubt meet with the hearty approval of the retail booksellers throughout the entire country.

Now that the Funk & Wagnalls Co. have broken the ice, let the others follow.

W. H. WATLINGTON.

TEXT-BOOK TROUBLES IN TENNESSEE.

THE uniform text-book law which was passed by the last Tennessee legislature is causing considerable trouble to the Memphis booksellers. The Board of Education of that city refuses to change the old school-books, and claims that the city charter expressly leaves the selection of school-books to the city Board of Education. Meanwhile a carload of new school-books, 50,000 in number, has arrived in that city, and the booksellers are impatiently awaiting a settlement of the question.

BOOK-TRADE TAXES IN CHICAGO.

According to the Chicago press the Board of Review is making some changes in the estimates of valuation as made by the city assessors. Changes made by the board that affect the book trade are given below. It will be noticed that the list comprises mainly school and religious book houses:

	Assess. Val.	B. R. Val.
Butler, Sheldon & Co.	$3,615	$10,000
Ginn & Co.	32,650	75,000
A. Flanagan.	16,750	20,000
D. Appleton & Co.	29,000	40,000
Silver, Burdett & Co.	5,300	10,000
Educational Pub. Co.	6,900	9,000
The Caxton Co	2,000	7,500
Werner School Book Co.	13,739	25,000
Prang Ed. Co.	9,190	15,000
Houghton, Mifflin & Co.	40,232	40,232
Scott, Foresman & Co.	17,587	20,000
American Book Co.	55,000	150,000
D. C. Heath & Co.	15,000	50,000
Maynard, Merrill & Co.	5,450	10,000
W. H. Wheeler & Co.	840	5,000
Harper & Bros	3,300	10,000
Charles Scribner's Sons.	7,500	15,000
John E. Anderson Pub. Co.	4,489	9,000
Koelling & Klappenbach.	15,300	15,300
Am. Baptist Pub. Co.	Not ass'd.	25,000
Congregational S.S.Pub.Society	Not ass'd.	20,000
Fleming H. Revell Co.	15,000	40,000

The increase amounts to $321,890, showing the high appreciation of the board for the book trade.

THE UNITED TYPOTHETÆ.

The most important action taken at the thirteenth annual convention of the United Typothetæ of America, which was held in New Haven, Conn., last month, was taken at the closing session on Friday and consisted in the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the members of the United Typothetæ of America, in convention assembled, reserve to themselves the right to employ whomsoever they see fit in the management of their respective offices.

This is equivalent to a declaration that hereafter the employing printers who are members of the United Typothetæ are determined to be independent of labor unions and their rules, and that they will stand together in case of a contest with the unions. This is a serious step and may lead to serious consequences in the printing trade, but the strength that each side could muster in such a contest should and probably would make the leaders careful not to provoke one needlessly.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Franklin Hudson, Kansas City, Mo.; vice-presidents, Edward Freegard, St. Louis, Mo.; Wilson H. Lee, New Haven, Conn.; John E. Burke, Norfolk, Va.; A. Talbot, London, Ont.; William A. Webb, Cincinnati, O., and J. R. Jones, Philadelphia, Pa.; secretary, J. Stearns Cushing, Norwood, Mass.; treasurer, R. E. Donnelley, Chicago, Ill.; executive committee, Hon. Joseph J. Little, chairman, New York; W. J. Dorman, Philadelphia, Pa.; C. W. Hornich, St. Paul, Minn.; W. H. Bates, Memphis, Tenn.; Amos Pettibone, Chicago, Ill.; H. P. Pears, Pittsburg, Pa.; H. O. Houghton, Boston, Mass.; president and secretary to same ex-officio.

It was voted unanimously to hold the next convention in Kansas City, Mo.

THE SIX BEST-SELLING BOOKS IN SEPTEMBER.

According to the summary of the lists in The Bookman, the six books which have sold best in the order of demand during the month of September are:

1. "David Harum." Westcott. D. Appleton & Co.
   "Richard Carvel." Churchill. Macmillan Co.
2. "When Knighthood was in Flower." Caskoden. Bowen-Merrill Co.
3. "No. 5 John Street." Whiteing. Century Co.
4. "The Market-Place." Frederic. Frederick A. Stokes Co.
5. "A Gentleman Player." Stephens. L. C. Page & Co.
6. "Children of the Mist." Phillpotts. G. P. Putnam's Sons.

Referring to the above the New York Times, in its issue for September 30, says: "It seems that The Bookman owes its readers some sort of explanation of the summary that is appended to its data of the 'Best-Selling Books in America,' [in September.] Out of the twenty-nine towns from which the figures are obtained, twenty, including New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, etc., return 'Richard Carvel' as the most popular book, whereas in the summary of the returns the first place is given to 'David Harum,' which stands first in only eight towns. By those who have followed these monthly reports in The Bookman they have hitherto been accepted as fairly accurate, but unless some good explanation is forthcoming of this curiously inaccurate statement, The Bookman will forfeit the confidence of many of its readers in what has hitherto been one of its most interesting departments."

In England, according to the London Daily Mail, the six best-selling books at present are:

1. "The Double Thread." Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler
2. "No. 5 John Street." Whiteing.
3. "W. G.'s "Recollections."
4. "The Open Question." Raimond.
5. "The Market Place." Frederic.
6. "The Fowler." Beatrice Harraden.

GUSTAV E. STECHERT—IN MEMORIAM.

Gustav E. Stechert, whose sudden death, on September 25, at his residence 1369 Dean Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., was briefly noted in our last issue, was born August 6, 1840, at Potsdam, Prussia. His father was a master bookbinder, and when young Stechert had completed his schooling he was taken into his father's shop as an apprentice. Always of an ambitious nature, Stechert became restive under the restriction which his trade imposed, and dissatisfied with the limited field it seemed to present for commercial development; when he became of age, therefore, he went to Thorn, in West Prussia, to become a bookseller. Five years later, in 1865, through his good work, he attracted the attention of a Leipzig commission house, and through that medium obtained in the same year a position with the firm of B. Westermann & Co., of New York. He remained with the Westermanns until the summer of 1872, when he severed his connections with the house to go into business on his own account.

After a short visit to Germany he founded in September, 1872, the firm of Stechert & Wolff, and began business as an importer of books and periodicals on Bond Street, New York. Mr. Wolff, who was not a bookseller, retired in 1876, after which time the business was carried on under the firm-name of G. E. Stechert. In April, 1897, Mr. Stechert admitted to partnership Alfred Hafner, who had been connected with him since June 1, 1889. Mr. Hafner and Mr. Stechert's family will continue the business without change of name.

From the start, in 1872, Mr. Stechert had an office in Leipzig. In 1884 he established a branch in London, and in 1892 he opened an office in Paris.

Through personal effort Mr. Stechert rapidly expanded his business, and was obliged to seek larger quarters, which he found at 828 Broadway and later at 810 Broadway. A few years ago he removed to No. 9 East Sixteenth Street. Gradually the principal feature of his business became the supplying of books to libraries and universities, and in time he counted among his patrons some of the largest institutions in this country.

Mr. Stechert was of a social disposition and made friends easily. He was one of the earlier members of the American Library Association, and was a member of the Germania Club of Brooklyn, the Arion and Liederkranz Singing Societies, of the American Museum of Natural History, and others.

Mr. Stechert had been ailing for a number of years, but he persisted in work. About nine months ago his illness took a more serious turn and he was confined to his bed. Rallying, he spent the summer months, partly abroad and then at Lake Champlain, N. Y. A day or two before his death he returned to his home encouraged to believe that the respite might be for years. Suddenly and quite unexpectedly the end came in the morning of September 25. Mr. Stechert leaves a widow—a daughter of Henry Cassebeer, a well-known New York pharmacist—a married daughter and three sons.

OBITUARY NOTES.

THE REV. G. W. NEELY, of Clemmonsville, N. C., died suddenly last week. He was the father of F. T. Neely, the publisher, of New York and Chicago.

RICHARD DRUMMOND, one of the oldest and most honored of the Scottish community in New York City, and father of James L. Drummond, (Ward & Drummond,) publisher and bookseller, died on the 2d inst., aged 78.

JAMES SLOCUM, president of the St. Paul, Minn., Book and Stationery Company, died August 27, at Minneapolis, aged 68 years. He was among the pioneer settlers of Minnesota, and had been prominent in the business affairs of St. Paul and Minneapolis for many years.

GENERAL HENRY HETH, the historian of the Confederate Army, died in Washington, D. C., September 27. He was a native of Virginia, and was born in 1825. He was graduated from West Point in 1847. Of late years General Heth had been chiefly occupied in literary work as an historian of the campaigns in which he was a notable figure. He also prepared, principally from the French, "A System of Target Practice," that was published in New York in 1867.

HEINRICH FERDINAND WÜSTENFELD, the celebrated Orientalist, died at Hanover, February 8. He was born in Münden, Prussia, in 1804. In 1827 he migrated to the University of Göttingen, where he remained seventy-two years. It would be difficult to point out to what branch of Arabic studies Wüstenfeld has not made some contribution of value to the student and scholar. His masterly edition, in nine volumes, of close Arabic type, of Yakut's "Mo'jam," is the most complete and authoritative geographical dictionary in Mohammedan literature. He was for fifty years assistant librarian of the Göttingen University library.

WILLSHIRE BUTTERFIELD died in South Omaha September 26. He was born in Mexico, Oswego County, N. Y., in 1824, and received his early education in the normal school in Albany. Mr. Butterfield wrote a history of Wisconsin and a "History of the Discovery of the Northwest by John Nicolet," which was published in 1888. Among his other works were "An Historical Account of the Expedition Against Sandusky in 1782," "The History and Biographical Annals of the University of Wisconsin," and "The History of Jefferson County." He also edited "The Washington-Crawford Letters," the Washington-Irvine correspondence, and official letters concerning military officers of the West, from 1781 to 1783.

BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATIONS.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE.

THE October "Smoker" of the Booksellers' League will be given on Wednesday evening, the 11th inst., at "The Chelsea," 222 West Twenty-third Street, New York, where the League will have still more desirable quarters than at the New Amsterdam. Ernest Knauft, editor of The Art Student, and author of a work on "Drawing for Printers," will give a talk on book illustration, which promises to be interesting. Those who wish to attend must notifiy Mr. Cass Richardson, with E. P. Dutton & Co., 31 West Twenty-third Street, not later than Monday, the 9th inst.

THE PUBLISHERS' CLUB OF AMERICA.

UNDER the magniloquent and misleading title of "The Publishers' Club of America" a number of subscription-book sellers and publishers in Philadelphia have formed an organization for promoting social intercourse among its members. A misinformed trade journal in publishing an announcement of this social club gives the impression that all the "prominent publishers" in the country are members of the club or "allied with it." As a matter of fact some of the leading members and officers are: President, Lemon F. Elliott, president of the publishing company that bears his name, a concern with headquarters at 257 S. Fourth Street, which sells histories, etc., by subscription; vice-president, William A. Gillespie, of the firm of Gillespie & Metzgar, subscription book sellers, at 639 N. Broad Street; Secretary, W. Willis Houston, the secretary and treasurer of a concern or concerns doing business as the "International Publishing Co.," the "World Publishing Co.," and "W. W. Houston Co.," who publish histories, dictionaries, etc., at 44 N. Fourth Street; and Treasurer, John W. Keeler, of the firm of Keeler & Kirkpatrick, dealers in subscription books, at 55 N. Sixth Street. The "Commissary" of the club is M. Greiner, of Stoever & Co., also subscription book sellers. Mr. Greiner's duty is to provide the monthly dinner at the Continental Hotel. About fifty others, of equal prominence as publishers of America, are members.

GUSTAV E. STECHERT.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

DESHLER WELCH will revive the Theatre Magazine after four seasons' suspension.

The Arena will hereafter be published by the Alliance Pub. Co., 19 W. 31st Street, New York.

F. T. NEELY proposes to launch a new ten-cent monthly magazine as a rival of Munsey's and McClure's.

Everybody's Magazine, published by John Wanamaker, started out last month with an edition of 100,000 copies.

Carter's Monthly, published in Chicago by John Carter, and edited by Opie Read, has suspended publication for the present.

Church Defence is the title of a new monthly just published by William Wirt Mills, from the Tribune Building, New York. The monthly aims to defend the Episcopal church in its "battle against unbelief."

AMONG the attractions of Harper's Monthly for the coming year are monthly articles by Kipling, to be entitled "A Winter's Note Book." Serials by Mrs. Humphry Ward and I. Zangwill are also promised.

THE U. S. INDUSTRIAL PUB. CO., 31 State Street, New York, has just published The Automobile Magazine, a handsomely illustrated monthly magazine devoted to the discussion of every kind of horseless vehicle.

IT is reported that The Cosmopolitan Magazine is for sale, its publisher, John Brisben Walker, wishing to devote his time and energies exclusively to the development of an automobile enterprise with which he is connected.

The Club-Woman's Magazine is the title of a "national" publication devoted to the interests of club-women in the United States. It is published for the Club-Woman's Magazine Publishing Co., of New York, by Elisha H. Talbot, and is edited by his wife.

THE November issue of The Century Magazine will contain the beginning of "The Biography of a Grizzly," Ernest Seton Thompson's first long story, illustrated by himself, with decorative work by his wife. The author of "Wild Animals I Have Known" related this tale to Kipling, who strongly urged its publication.

The Sphynx is a new magazine to be published at once in Washington, D. C., by a group of newspaper critics of the national capital. A feature of the initial number is to be a hitherto unpublished poem by Kipling, entitled "The Gentlemen Rankers," a contribution by I. Zangwill, and a number of clever illustrations by Washington's best cartoonists.

Literary Life, "a weekly newspaper for publishers, booksellers, librarians, authors, editors, and bookbuyers," appeared as a folio sheet of 4 pages on September 2 and 9. Since that date it has "doubled up" and become a quarto of eight pages. It is published by the Montgomery Publishing Co., 23 Park Row, New York. The paper was first started in 1884 at Cleveland, Ohio. Then it was removed to Chicago, and then, after a "life of trial and vicissitude," was removed "to the storehouse of dead hopes." Its publishers are confident of a brighter future, which we hope they may realize.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CHICAGO, ILL.—It is reported that the Chicago branch of John E. Potter & Co. has made an assignment.

DETROIT, MICH.—J. D. Hudson's department store have introduced a circulating library in their book department. Books are loaned at two cents a day, and the manager, Miss Gibbs, is confident that the scheme does not interfere with the sale of the books in her department.

FARGO, N. DAK.—H. Amerland & Co., booksellers, have been succeeded by the North Dakota Stationery Co.

HELENA, MONT.—Thomas H. Clewell, bookseller, is dead.

HOUSTON, TEX.—W. J. Hancock, bookseller, has been discharged in bankruptcy proceedings.

IOWA CITY, IA.—Miss Wienke has succeeded to the book business of Hohenschuh & Wienke.

JACKSON, TENN.—Lyerlas' book store was burned out September 19, entailing a loss of $4,000; insurance, $3,500.

JOHNSTOWN, N. Y.—J. E. Barrett's book and stationery stock was burned out; fully insured.

MUSCATINE, IA.—G. R. Scheets has succeded Robert L. Thompson, bookseller.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Rogers & Robinson, booksellers, will soon move into their new store in the opera house block, which is now being completed.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—The Vick Publishing Company has been incorporated by Fred. H. Beach, F. H. Beach, Jr., and James Vick, all of Rochester.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—Payot, Upham & Co., San Francisco, have purchased the store adjoining their present premises and will enlarge their quarters. They claim to be capitalized at $100,000.

STONEHAM, MASS.—W. S. Butler, book agent, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. Unsecured claims, $2,216.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

DONOHUE, HENNEBERRY & CO., Chicago, have nearly ready a memorial edition of "Ingersollia," a collection of the best thoughts from the lectures and speeches of the late Col. Robert G. Ingersoll.

RICHARD G. BADGER & CO., Boston, have just ready "The Price of Blood," written and illustrated by Howard Pyle; "Camp Arcady," by Floy Campbell, the story of four girls who kept house in a New York flat; and "Cape of Storms," by Percival Pollard, who makes his hero find danger in a woman's face.

THE HOME PUBLISHING CO. has just ready "Digby Ravelyn," by Heber K. Daniels, a story of a young peer's infatuation for the daughter of a carpenter, who in turn is loved by the prodigal son of an undertaker. The situations are tragic and comic by turns, and the author has evidently learned many of his arts from Dickens.

CHARLES FROHMAN has purchased the dramatic rights of "Richard Carvel." It is not yet known who is dramatizing it, but it is said that the story, which is so full of fine scenes and situations, has been in the hands of a well-known playwright for some time. The publishers of the novel have sent out a note to say that the 17th edition or 150th thousand was issued on the 20th September.

R. H. RUSSELL will shortly publish an elaborate edition of Bunyan's "The Life and Death of Mr. Badman." The work will include twelve full-page compositions by George Woolliscroft Rhead and Louis Rhead, "designed to portray the deadly sins of the ungodly Mr. Badman's journey from this world to hell." The letter-press will be upon heavy hand-made paper, and will be handsomely bound and decorated with illustrations in old woodcut style, after the fashion of their edition of Tennyson's "Idylls of the King."

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS publish to-day "The Chronicles of Minervy Ann," by Joel Chandler Harris, illustrated by A. B. Frost; "Nooks and Corners of Old New York," by Charles Hemstreet, illustrated by Ernest C. Peixotto; "Dionysius, the Weaver's Heart's Dearest," by Blanche Willis Howard; "The Messages of the Later Prophets," which forms Volume II of "The Messages of the Bible," edited by Prof. F. K. Sanders of Yale, and Prof. C. F. Kent of Brown University; "A History of Ancient Philosophy," by Dr. W. Windelband; and "The Moral Order of the World," by A. B. Bruce, a volume of the Gifford Lectures.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON, in announcing the concluding volume of The Expositor's Bible, call the attention of the trade to the fact that they have made arrangements to meet the competition of the unauthorized reprint of this work, which owes its popularity in this country to their efforts. Waiving all sentiment in the matter, they state that their new edition will be printed from the original plates on good paper and bound in cloth. The original forty-nine volumes, however, will be doubled up to make the set complete in twenty-five volumes, to which new copyright material has been added. The set will be supplied to the trade at less than one-half of the original subscription price

E. P. DUTTON & CO. have just ready "Among the Farm-yard People," by Clara D. Pierson, author of those charming "Meadow People" and "Forest People;" "A Year-Book of Colonial Times," by Frederic S. Sill, in which every date memorizes an event in American history; a book of selections arranged by W. M. L. Jay from Christina Rossetti's "The Face of the Deep," which is entitled "Reflected Lights from the Face of the Deep;" a new book by L. T. Meade, entitled "The Odds and the Evens," with ten full-page illustrations by Percy Tarrant; "Peril and Prowess," stories, by G. A. Henty, Manville Fenn, Conan Doyle, and others; also, two remarkable books for the young, by Luther D. Bradley, entitled "Wonderful Willie, or, what he and Tommy did to Spain," and "Our Indians, a Midnight Visit to the Great Somewhere or Other," will be published at the same time.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO. have just issued "Plantation Pageants," by Joel Chandler Harris, a continuation of "The Thimblefinger Stories," in which Mr. Thimblefinger does not appear, but several of the other delightful characters make it interesting; "A Jersey Boy In the Revolution," by Everett T. Tomlinson, author of "The Boys of Old Monmouth," and "The Helpers," a present day story of the new West, by Francis Lynde. Of great historical interest is "The Narragansett Friends' Meeting in the Sixteenth Century," by Caroline Hazard, President of Wellesley College; and "The Life of Charles Henry Davis, rear-Admiral, 1807-1877," written by his son. A work on "Raphael," edited by Estelle M. Hurll, contains a collection of fifteen pictures and a portrait of the painter, with introduction and interpretation; this is the first volume of the new Riverside Art Series.

FOREIGN NOTES.

MACMILLAN & CO. have in press a new book by Maarten Maartens, the Dutch novelist, entitled "Some Women I Have Known."

HODDER & STOUGHTON, London, will publish shortly a volume of "Reminiscences of Dickens, Thackeray, George Eliot, and others," by the late Mrs. Lynn Linton, with a short preface by Miss Beatrice Harraden.

THE design for the William Black memorial beacon, the total sum subscribed for which now amounts to $2525, has been made by Colin Hunter, A.R.A. The beacon, as has been stated, is destined for Duart Point, Isle of Mull, a dangerous spot, and its light will be a guide to all ships entering the Firth of Lorne, the Sound of Mull, and Loch Linnhe.

THE great "Encyclopædia Biblica," which Prof. Robertson Smith initiated, and which Dr. Cheyne and Dr. Sutherland Black are carrying on, is at last sufficiently advanced for the first of the four parts to be announced by Messrs. Black for this month. The remaining parts are in a state so near completion that they may be expected within two years, at intervals of six months.

OUTWARDLY, the English edition of Count Tolstoi's new novel, "Resurrection," according to the London Academy, is a curious apparition. Six paper booklets, enclosed in a buff wrapper and secured by an india-rubber band, the whole looking like a packet of temperance tracts—such is the form in which the first volume of "Resurrection" makes its appearance in England. A list of the characters in the novel is given, and the motto-texts on the title-pages are taken from Matt. xviii. 21–22, Matt. vii. 3, John viii. 7, Luke vi. 40. The book is published by the Brotherhood Publishing Company.

THE collection of physical apparatus made by the late William Spottiswoode, of the firm of Eyre & Spottiswoode, was presented by W. Hugh Spottiswoode to the Royal Institution of Great Britain on the occasion of its centennial. William Spottiswoode, who was born in 1825 and died in 1883, was for some time president of the Royal Society, and from 1870 to 1883 gave numerous lectures on scientific experiments and discoveries. Although his name as a scientist is not so familiar to the public as it is as a publisher and printer, Mr. Spottiswoode's name nevertheless will take high rank in history as a first-rate worker in physical science and mathematics. An artistic pamphlet giving description of the apparatus presented with illustrations, and a brief biographical sketch with a portrait, in Woodbury gravure, has been issued by Eyre & Spottiswoode.

AUCTION SALES.

[We shall be pleased to insert under this heading, without charge, advance notices of auction sales to be held anywhere in the United States. Word must reach us before Wednesday evening, to be in time for issue of same week.]

OCTOBER 9-13, and 16, 17, 3 P.M.—Miscellaneous. (394; 727; 362; 387; 707 lots.)—Bangs.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

New Books Just Ready:

Sketches in Egypt. By C. D. Gibson

MR. GIBSON commemorates his visit to the Land of the Pharaohs by this handsome art volume, containing fifty or sixty spirited drawings and his written impressions of Cairo, the Pyramids, the Nile, etc. It is an exceedingly attractive book, just the thing for a holiday present.

Size, 7¾ x 10½; Binding, crash linen, decorated; Regular Edition, $3.00 net.

EDITION DE LUXE, TO BE ISSUED LATER: 250 signed and numbered copies, each accompanied by a portfolio containing proofs of ten pictures on Japan tissue mounted on plate paper suitable for framing. Price, per copy, $10.00 net. As soon as actually published the price will be raised.

DRAMATIC STORIES OF REAL LIFE AND WORK.

TALES OF THE TELEGRAPH.
By Jasper Ewing Brady.

A PICTURESQUE narrative of the life and adventures of a telegrapher in railroad, commercial, and military work. It is largely made up out of the author's own experiences.

Size, 5 x 7½; Binding, cloth; Illustrated; Price, $1.25.

STORIES OF THE RAILOAD.
By John Alexander Hill.

MR. HILL, too, has "worked his way"—from locomotive engineer on the Rio Grande Railroad. His stories are full of verve and reality.

Size, 5 x 7½; Binding, cloth; Illustrated; Price, $1.50.

Mickey Finn Idylls. By Ernest Jarrold.

MR. C. A. DANA not only proved his faith in these unusual stories by printing them in the Sun but wrote an enthusiastic introduction for the book, pointing out "the humor, pathos, and human nature of the work." The Idylls tell of an Irish boy squatter on the edge of a city, his goats, pet crow, turtle, sparrow, and other birds and beasts.

Size, 5 x 7½; Pages, about 300; Type, 10-point; Binding, cloth, decorated; Price, $1.25.

Popular Studies in Literature: Burns, Scott, Byron.

HOME STUDY CIRCLE. EDITED BY SEYMOUR EATON.

THE first volume to be issued in the comprehensive plan for bringing Education into the homes of all who desire to "get on in the world." It contains biographies, critical estimates and reminiscences, readings from each author, student's notes and queries (to test the reader's knowledge), outlines of study, and so on. Each writer is definitely placed in literature by such authorities as Edward Everett Hale, Hamilton W. Mabie, Thomas Wentworth Higginson, Lewis E. Gates, Bliss Perry, Harriet Prescott Spofford, and others. There are many interesting portraits, plans and facsimiles.

Size, 5½ x 8; Pages, about 300; Type, 10-point; Many illustrations; Binding, cloth; Price, $1.00 net.

ARMS AND THE WOMAN.
By Harold MacGrath.

A SPIRITED romance by a new writer, hinging upon the personality of a charming Princess in a minor German state.

Size, 5 x 7½; Pages, about 300; Binding, cloth, decorated; Price, $1.25.

MICHAEL ROLF, ENGLISHMAN.
By Mary L. Pendered.

A LOVE-STORY of middle-class life in a quiet market town of Western England. A return to the manner of Jane Austen.

Size, 5 x 7½; Pages, about 300; Binding, cloth, decorated; Price, $1.25.

THREE CHARMING BOOKS FOR BOYS.

CATTLE RANCH TO COLLEGE.
By Russell Doubleday.

A true tale of a boy's life and exciting adventures on the Dakota frontier, fifteen years ago. Told by the "hero," now a college man, to the gunner of "A Gunner aboard the Yankee."

Size, 5¾ x 8¼; 100 illustrations; $1.50.

The BOYS' BOOK of INVENTIONS.
By Ray S. Baker.

The author here tells stories of such marvels of modern science as Liquid Air, Submarine Boats, Telegraphing without Wires, Air Ships, and the like—all being splendidly illustrated.

Size, 5¾ x 8¼; 200 illustrations; $2.00.

WE WIN.
By Herbert E. Hamblen.

Mr. Hamblen's railroad stories show him at his best, and this record of "The Life and Adventures of a Young Railroader" is thoroughly interesting and American.

Size, 5¾ x 8; Illustrated; $1.50.

EZEKIEL'S SIN.

A Cornish Romance.

BY J. H. PEARCE, AUTHOR OF "ELI'S DAUGHTER," "INCONSEQUENT LIVES," ETC.

New Illustrated Edition. Small 8vo, $1.25.

"'Ezekiel's Sin' is a notable novel. It has a good, strong plot, and the story is well told. The book is a gallery of rarely good portraiture. Excellently, too, it depicts the life, rough and daring, hard and coarse, yet withal, clean and true and tender, of the crabbers and fisherfolk of the Cornish coast. 'Ezekiel's Sin' is the best novel this year."—The Musical Courier.

"A strong story. The scenery is new, as the story is a Cornish romance. The writer tells of humble folk, seafaring people, as rough as their coast; but the tale is a powerful one. The book should go beside Hall Caine's tragedies of fisherfolk."—The Buffalo Express.

"Mr. Pearce has done for the Cornish coast what Hamlin Garland has done for the West, Thomas Nelson Page for the South, and Miss Wilkins for New England. He deserves to be read by all Americans as well as the English-speaking people in the four corners of the earth."—The Times-Union.

WHAT THE ENGLISH CRITICS SAY OF "EZEKIEL'S SIN."

The Sketch says: "Cornwall is fortunate in having an interpreter of its life so capable of understanding its spirit and of rendering something of its rugged external beauty. He has a high ideal of form and expression, and the book is full of delightful pictures of the sea, the lonely life of fishermen, and the sparse dwellers of the coast."

The Scotsman says: "Worked out with singular attractiveness. Mr. Pearce can portray character with remarkable clearness and power, and he has the fortunate gift of being able to bring home intimately to his readers the sights and sounds of nature. The atmosphere of the stormy coast suffuses the whole of this book."

The Daily Mail says: "There are many impressively dramatic scenes in the book and many charming pictures of Cornish life. Mr. Pearce is obviously at home among the people of whom he writes, and he writes of them in a way which is irresistible in its appeal to his readers' interest."

NEW BOOKS.

The Island;

OR, AN ADVENTURE OF A PERSON OF QUALITY. By RICHARD WHITEING, author of "No. 5 John St." 12mo, cloth, deckel edges, gilt top, $1.25.

This fine tale of a South Sea island was published twelve years ago in England and on the continent of Europe, but for some time has been out of print. The great success of "No. 5 John St.," which is really a sequel to "The Island," has created a large demand for the latter book. We have therefore issued the first American edition of "The Island," and in a very attractive style. Discounts are liberal, and we pay transportation.

The South African Question.

By OLIVE SCHREINER, author of "The Story of an African Farm," "Dreams," etc. 12mo, cloth, gilt top, $1.00; paper, 25 cents.

"It is a bugle call from the little woman at Johannesburg, full of pathos, crowded with the best wisdom and justice and statesmanship, and it is such a call as will have a wide-reaching influence in shaping the questions at issue."—New York Journal.

"It is impossible to read this remarkable book by a remarkable woman without putting one's self for the time being at the point of view. As regards the importance of the issue discussed and the writer's solemn and impassioned style, it reminds us of one of the great pleas of ancient times touching matters of international interest—say one of the Phillipics of Demosthenes—and we can easily imagine the youth of a future day and language constructing these sentences and discussing the historic matter with which they deal. . . . Whoever wishes, at this critical moment, to understand thoroughly the position taken by the intelligent and patriotic Boers should read 'The South African Question,' by Olive Schreiner."—Chicago Times-Herald.

BOOKBINDING FOR PUBLISHERS

IT is easy enough to solicit and obtain business when you can offer low prices. But it is necessary to have something besides low prices. A good reputation, good work and the ability to live up to contracts are some of these qualifications. There are many bookbinders who will take work for a low price and then cheapen the binding and delay the work because they have not the facilities of turning it out, thus defrauding the publishers.

In my new place of business, in the building at the corner of Centre and Leonard Streets, where I have a floor space of over 40,000 square feet, filled with the very latest and most modern machinery, such as automatic cutting and trimming machines, rapid quadruple folding machines, new model Smyth sewing machines, the most powerful smashing machines, the very latest improved Crawley rounding and backing machines, Smyth bookcase machines, and the very finest stamping department in this city, all run by my own electric plant, also a very extensive marbling and edge gilding department, managed by the most skilled mechanics. My capacity is over 15,000 cloth bound books per day, and I can do the best work at the lowest prices. I can safely say that I can save publishers who have large editions to be bound from 10 to 20 per cent. on all bindings. I am now ready to make arrangements for bindings for the year 1900.

This is not a plant run by capitalists, or any other moneyed trust or syndicate as a venture, but a well-appointed bindery, managed by a practical man who has made a life study of bookbinding, and has risen from apprenticeship to ownership.

The Old Masters

notwithstanding the fact that they are glibly discussed, are nevertheless almost entire strangers to the novices in art as well as to the general public. The reason for this is, that aside from the more or less slight sketches in encyclopædias and in the so-called art "handbooks," the lives of the masters have been comprehensively dealt with only in expensive treatises, and are accessible, therefore, only to a narrow circle of readers, and to the larger part of these only in public libraries. It was with a view of reaching the many cultivated readers and the students of art who cannot afford to possess these more expensive treatises, but who nevertheless desire a closer acquaintance with, and knowledge of, the great masters of painting and their work that Professor H. KNACKFUSS was induced to undertake the series of

in which the great periods of art, and the lives of those who took leading parts in developing art in all its phases, are treated with scientific thoroughness in a manner which makes it comprehensible to all. In this endeavor Professor KNACKFUSS has been ably seconded by the publisher, who has spared no expense in giving the text a dignified and artistic dress, and adding to it everything in the way of illustration that could amplify the author's meaning, as well as to convey to the reader, by means of excellent reproductive processes, a vivid idea of the masters' greatest works. And all this at a price which places this series within the reach of those with the most limited means. Thus far the subjects treated are

Translated into English by CAMPBELL DODGSON.

Each volume, artistically bound, 8°. . . . . $1.50.

SCRIBNER'S NEW IMPORTATIONS.

Completion of the New "Temple" Edition, in 48 volumes, 16mo, of Scott's Waverley Novels.

In conjunction with Messrs. J. M. Dent & Co., of London, Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons have issued an entirely new edition of the Waverley Novels of Sir Walter Scott, which is noteworthy, not only for its beauty and perfection of printing, but also for its size and finish, being of the compass and format most convenient for easy handling and for carrying in the pocket. Its features are:

PRINT. It is printed in Dent's beautiful and clear type upon thin but tough opaque paper.

SIZE. The size of the volumes is 6 x 3¾ inches and rarely exceed half an inch in thickness.

BINDING. The binding is of limp lambskin leather, specially prepared.

EDITION. The edition followed is that known as the Author's Favorite Edition.

INTRODUCTIONS. Mr. Clement Shorter has written a series of Bibliographical Introductions in which are told the story of the writing and publication of each novel.

ILLUSTRATIONS. A special feature of the edition consists of about forty topographical drawings (reproduced as photogravure frontispieces) of the homes and haunts of Sir Walter Scott by Mr. Herbert Railton. Included in the frontispieces are a series of photogravure portraits of Sir Walter Scott and of those connected with him.

Price, in lambskin binding, 80 cents per volume.

THE CONTEMPORARY SCIENCE SERIES.

Edited by HAVELOCK ELLIS. New Volumes—Each, Crown 8vo, $1.50.

THE HISTORY OF THE EUROPEAN FAUNA.

By R. F. SCHARFF, B.Sc., Ph.D., F.Z.S. With illustrations. Ready.

Deals with the distribution of animals in Europe, and the geological conditions which have effected that distribution. The author endeavors to show the nature of the various migrations by which the different groups of animals have reached Europe, and especially Great Britain.

NEARLY READY.

THE RACES OF MAN.

A Sketch of Ethnography and Anthropology. By J. DENIKER. With about 200 illustrations.

This important volume attempts to present a summary of all the facts of anthropology in the light of the latest investigations. The first part of the book describes the physical and psychic characteristics of man throughout the world and in every stage of civilization, while the last part discusses the races into which mankind may be divided.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF RELIGION.

By Prof. STARBUCK, Stanford University, California. With an introduction by Prof. William James, of Harvard University. With diagrams.

The author of this book deals for the first time in a scientific (though sympathetic) manner with the facts of religious life. He shows that conversion and the other stages of religious development may be brought into line with the biological facts of life. His work is founded on precise information derived from a large number of people, and is of special interest to teachers and ministers of religion.
